

Advanced Technology Mission

The Mission of Aerospace Advanced Technology is to identify, validate, develop and/or transfer superior technology solutions for Aerospace businesses. This is accomplished through partnerships with internal and external customers, universities, and alliances. To meet the demands of the aerospace industry, technology is critical and must have ultra-high reliability, cost-effectiveness and high performance. Advanced Technology efforts are focused on technical thrusts that are highly valued by the aerospace marketplace.